Chairman's Corner

January 2010

I hope that everyone had a fantastic holiday in which you were able to see family and friends and eat plenty of food! Now that we are back from the holidays, it's time to kick off the 2010 with another ASQ event.

For January, our event features Professor David Gill who will be presenting on the topic of Ethics as a Quality System: Six Components, Four Processes. Professor Gill teaches Business Ethics in the Graduate School of Business St. Mary's College, Moraga, CA, is the author of It's About Excellence: Building Ethically Healthy Organizations (2008), and Principal of EthixBiz Consulting (<http://www.ethixbiz.com>). Our January Event will be held at Scott's Seafood in Jack London Square on Wednesday, January 20th.

On February 18th, we plan another networking event at the Pyramid Alehouse in Berkeley. Members of the San Francisco and Silicon Valley sections are invited to join us there, so we hope to have a lively and varied networking group.

In the meantime, you can sign up for our scheduled events through Acteva. Please note that our upcoming January event occurs on a Wednesday evening!
